"Tucked away among the hills overlooking the splendid Tiber National Park, fully immersed in the peaceful atmosphere of the Umbrian countryside yet just minutes away from the picturesque medieval town of Todi, this newly renovated farmhouse is now a magnificent eco-friendly contemporary home with heated pool and the most breathtaking views over the Tiber valley".

Part of a private 1.5 hectare estate situated 320 metres above the sea level, the property has been refurbished only with the best avant-garde materials and technologies. In fact, thanks to a heat pump, to radiant floors, a homogeneous and pleasant temperature is guaranteed both in summer and winter. No air conditioning or radiators, are used but a cooling system-underfloor heating. A forced air system further optimizes the well-being of the house: the farmhouse features an A4 energy class. The style encompasses traditional elements brought up-to-date with add-on's for today's lifestyles: there is a heated pool equipped with umbrellas and deck loungers, offering a breathtaking view of the valley. The proximity to a number of small villages with restaurants, bread shops, organic markets, artisans' shops, hidden little churches and monuments, not to mention proximity to all the main towns of Umbria means you can fully relax here and enjoy a hassle-free holiday, good for your body, mind and soul.
